APPENDIX

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. GUS HALL, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anticommunist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1606 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

and work politically as radicals and maybe someday as revolutionaries. Potential comrades will become enemies, saying "I'm for freedom and peace, I'm against U.S. imperialism, but I'm not in the middle class hip/American) what the hell can I do?" Ten per cent of their income may go to their consciousness, help our pilot projects, but that income is available only by strengthening America, the enemy.

At this time, unfortunately, white "radicals" have not embarked on the task of building radical constituencies among poor and working whites that can someday relate to and be related to by, blacks. The student and peace movements are basically irrelevant to the struggle of black people in this country, and, in the long run, liberation movements in the third world. Black people increasingly orient themselves to the third world. Our failure to build a movement among white workers leads itself to the increased repression of the black people. One of our tasks at this time is to start to lay the groundwork for a working class movement, encompassing students and professionals as well, that can coalesce with blacks and the third world. When we talk of creating operations that allow people to work as radicals, it should be stressed that without serious attention to the working class (including segments of the "new working class", e.g. lower level technology jobs), motion among middle class constituencies could easily become reformist, not potentially revolutionary. Organization among middle class elements should flow from a working class perspective, from a view that we must work to control the institutions that will someday let us pull the American Ogre down.

North and Chicago are the cities that come closest at this time in terms of conception and existing manpower, to being able to create operations that will allow people to work effectively as radicals. Let me explain, drawing on our experience and current plans in Chicago.

We found that big civil rights (SCLC), church and labor groups were determining direction for most small community organizations just beginning to develop roots and perspective. Open occupation marches Radical Research, the Institute for students doing research to serve the current and perceived needs of community organizations. (see "Aids for Whites," Rennie Davis, The MOVEMENT, August 1967.) The Center included a Free University (some white kids got some perspective), and has spun off groups of people trying to organize within the Independent Case Workers' Union, the AFT, and VISTA.

The Union and its school are now a completely black operation. That has imposed on white organizers the task of creating our own union, our own operation that can

The National Conference for New Politics convention, held in Chicago from August 31 to September 5, set a new high for excitement in political conventions.

The crucial question was decided by 2 votes out of 25,000. A delegation with 5,000 votes staged a virtual take-over. There were walk-outs. It was the greatest show on earth.

LET'S GET TOGETHER

The pre-convention "leading sessions" drew up three alternative "perspective" resolutions to put before the delegates. One called for NCNP to coordinate and sponsor a national strike. Titled on the grounds that it would distract people from building solid local organizations. A second perspective argued for a national third ticket, saying such a national campaign was necessary to "inject a radically different viewpoint into Presidential elections", and would strengthen local organizing. A third called for NCNP to establish a third party as a long-term alternative to the existing two major parties. The choice among these three resolutions was to be the key decision of the convention.

WED YOU EVER HAVE TO MAKE UP YOUR MIND?

Monday evening the perspective plan-ary opened, with the black caucus not participating. The small labor caucus, the De Bois Caucus, the Communist Party, the California delegation, and other new political electoral groups supported the third ticket perspective. Members of the radical white caucus backed the local organizing perspective. Some speakers for local organizing attacked all electoral activity, local or otherwise, even though the perspective did not, and the radical caucus had not.

The initial vote on perspective was about 11,000 for the third ticket, 18,000 for local organizing, and 2,000 for the third party. (According to the convention rules, delegations were entitled to as many votes of their own active members in the organizations they represented.) The convention then recessed to see if any compromises could be worked out.

The local organizing caucus then approved a compromise whereby most of the third ticket perspective would be added to the local organizing perspective, but the

Putting White Radicals to Work or Making Sure Our Friends Don't Become Our Enemies

Mike James
JOHN

Nowhere in this country have white "radicals" created operations that can put people to work. People come off the campus and say "I want to work with JOHN." We say start a project somewhere. Someone wants to be a teacher, and is told over and over, "set up a radical teachers project." People come out of SDS with good gut stuff, but little perspective, and get taken up going into a city where they try and solve problems personally rather than politically. The movement now loses, and still continues to lose, too many people to middle class America, or the right.

pulled them away from the cat on the street, leaving him to the manipulation and paternalism of OEO money. Finally, people who were about serious radical organizing in poor and working communities formed a Union of Organizers. Organizers were going to start making their own decisions, and the first was to create new community organizations throughout the city. The Union and the School continue. The first session put together a staff of ten black organizers working in the Englewood area. The school will move to another neighborhood, establish another staff, and then move again -- and

In some instances (even now) work together with the black Union. We are now in the process of pulling together people who are already organizing, seeing where we are, and where and how we move. The group includes people working in poor and working class white neighborhoods, the CADRE draft resistance people, organizers from the 49th Ward Citizens' for Independent Political Action, the Center for Radical Research, radicals in the labor movement, teachers, case workers, lawyers, doctors, and students (even high school and college). If we get "our thing" together, there are many experiences, we may well be in a state of emergency (always locally as much as possible) and training of 100 teachers, case workers, who can move their white left, white to community organizations, and work as radicals in the neighborhoods where they live, as well. The neighborhoods where they live will be continued on p. 4 as such actions are understood in the context of building a movement, not as a critique.

Eventually, if we build an anti-draft movement originally in self-interest but introduced to a broad radical analysis, our actions may be big enough to precipitate radical social change.

Leonard Shapiro

Brothers and sisters,

John Vennistale is completely off-base. He wants us to move off the campuses and be "educated" by the working class in preparation for revolution. He obviously hasn't noticed that the greatest revolutionary potential today lies with the student and intellectual communities in this country. The working class has unfortunately been duped into believing that they live in freedom and democracy. As Carl Davidson pointed out in the adjacent article, people have been conditioned to accept their "responsibilities" in the system, as they continue to elect "home room officers" in national politics. Apparently, only the academic community has been the Resistance program, rather than a comprehensive analysis of its philosophy and strategy, in an attempt to stimulate further discussion on a broader basis. For reasons which are set forth in the article, we feel that it is urgent that such critical dialogue on the question of the Resistance, and its relation to the larger anti-war effort, begin immediately. We also feel that a prevalent misconception of the nature of the Resistance position has, in part, prevented the initiation of that dialogue. This misconception is that the Resistance consists of a group of individuals who have united because they share common goals, and a common commitment to non-cooperation. This, we assert, is not the case. The Resistance purports to be a genuine political movement—thus Oct. 16 is seen not as the first and final confrontation, but as the catalytic action which will generate a series of waves of non-cooperation, of progressively increasing intensity. The Resistance program is not merely an attempt to gather together people who have previously made personal commitments to non-cooperation. It is an attempt to convince people that their moral responsibility compels them to in order to clarify the basic position that the Resistance is advocating, and in order to understand some of the implications of that position for the larger anti-war movement, to critically discuss the use of non-cooperation as the basis for the organization of a mass political movement.

Before beginning an analysis of the Resistance political program, we must first attempt to define that program clearly. In this regard, it is significant that the Resistance has displayed a consistently ambivalent attitude on the question of prisons. Although its members stress that prisons are the risk that individuals must accept if they participate in the Resistance program, they have not been consistent in asserting that they will accept prisons. In fact, while one segment of the Resistance leadership states unequivocally that the members are going to prison, another segment states that their policy is to support individuals who seek an alternative to prison. In a recent statement issued by the Palo Alto Resistance, we read: "That stance's initial step (non-cooperation) is a refusal to cooperate with incarceration. This means going to jail for up to five years." But in a similar statement issued about the same time by the Berkeley Resistance (at that time, national headquarters), "...all must be willing to risk prison. We realize that some will change their minds after these actions or decide that prison would be too harmful to them. In such instances, we will provide means to leave the country or go underground." The two approaches outlined above are to a certain extent contradictory and mutually exclusive. On the one hand, the position that entails prison involves convincing public defiance of the government, a continually stated readiness to accept prison (on a philosophical level, a "lack of recognition of the government's power—but not its authority"), and the eventual acceptance of prison sentences. The alternative position involves open confrontation with the government, continued public defiance up until the point of indictment or threatened imprisonment, and then subsequent evasion of prison. This position clearly to provide prison, they participate in the Oct. 16th action. These are 1. such action will diminish the effectiveness of the Resistance program, since the Resistance will be perpetrating two conflicting conceptions of the meaning and purpose of its action. Further, such action might precipitate the internal dissolution and fragmentation of the group. 2. This may have the effect of jeopardizing the legal status of those in the Resistance who choose to work through the courts and accept prison. There is a high probability that had we not been so adamant, or that it will be abandoned altogether, should people under indictment attempt to avoid prosecution. 3. Individuals who break the law voluntarily, as the Resistance members intend to do, and subsequently attempt to evade prison, must be aware of their responsibility to those people who will extend aid to them. For instance, a Selective Service officer is liable for a maximum of 5 years prison, but people who assist the violator, e.g. by hiding him or helping him escape, can be prosecuted for conspiracy and are thereby liable to between 10 and 20 years in prison. As to Conclusions and others, they are already overburdened with disorders and draft-resisters who had to break the law and ask help to avoid prison.

In light of the above considerations, it appears that it will be difficult to justify participation in the Resistance Oct. 16th action, without a firm prior commitment to the program which includes prison.

The Resistance, as a movement, persists to offer a viable political program involving a sustained organizational threat and ongoing political action. Again, in judging the feasibility of this program, we must weigh the possible political advantages of the strategy and tactics against the price of prison or exile which individuals, and the larger anti-draft and anti-war movement, will be forced to pay as a result of these tactics. This requires consideration of the whole question of non-cooperation as a tactic for the organization of a political movement. Non-cooperation is defined as the complete refusal to recognize or from threats from all quarters.

Finally, the most recent and significant repressive move on the part of the ruling class dealt with the National Mobilization on October 21. The General Services Administration (which includes all police and other administrative bodies in the District of Columbia) notified the Mobilization that unless the Committee explicitly disavowed and disassociated itself from any acts of civil disobedience during the October 21 action, then all permits would be denied and any anti-war action (including legal protests) would be declared illegal for that day. The GSA also hinted that unless the Mobilization met its requests, all future actions in Washington by themselves and other anti-war groups would be declared illegal. Washington officials have thus far indicated that any "illegal" actions would be met with repressive force and have even mentioned the possibility of bloodshed.

In its seven year history, SDS has not had to deal with political repression on this scale and with this degree of seriousness. Because of this relative inexperience and of the damage done in the past to radical movements in America through repression by the government, it is important that we develop an effective and offensive response to this situation. Moreover, we should understand clearly the reasons for this repression at this point in our history.

First of all, the government is increasingly frustrated over the war in Vietnam. All indications point out that the NLP is winning on all fronts, military development as well as the nature of the attack. This means that we must not fall into the trap of retreating to civil libertarian defense committees, controlling our attacks within the courts, laws, and constitutional structures owned and controlled by the same enemy attacking us. We must call the attack, rather than some Johnson-appointed federal judge. Throughout the history of radicalism, civil libertarian defenses against political repression have served to confuse forces for change within the limits of the political thought and action of the status quo, thus rendering them impotent. Our defense must be an offense. Furthermore, we must observe two principles: (1) we must not retreat from anything we have accomplished or advocated thus far, and (2) we must not be divided by red-baiting, black-baiting, irresponsible-baiting, or whatever. An injury to One is an injury to All.

Considering the current situation, the SDS Fall National Council, meeting at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, agreed on two resolutions. In relation to Joe-the-fool-Poof's attack on Texas SDS draft resistance programs, the NC issued a press release attacking the war, the draft and HUAC. Also, the NC supported the work of our brothers and sisters in Texas as well as reaffirming our participation in and support of draft resistance across the country. The N.O. was instructed to give full support, financial and moral, to our brothers and sisters in Texas. Robert Purdon and Marilyn Buck have left Chicago for Dallas to

CUBANS INVITE SDS TO ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Carl Davidson,
Inter-Organizational Secretary

The Cuban government has extended an invitation to SDS to send 10 to 20 people to Cuba from December 28 to January 10, the anniversary of the revolution. This trip is scheduled to include a tour of the island, meetings with various government officials, and attendance at anniversary celebrations. A resolution of the National Council mandated the NHC to select people to attend, leaving it to the NHC to decide what processes and criteria would be used.

At the NHC meeting following the NC, it was decided that not only should chapter members be encouraged to apply, but also that part of the process of selection should take place at the local level. This result was a decision that local chapters should select their applicants and that the NHC should select a subcommittee of one-half of the delegation from this pool of elected chapter people. This will permit the NHC to have a large number of people who are active at the local level to choose from, rather than selecting only from those people known to the NHC members.

Those who are elected applicants will have to make their own transportation costs—and hopefully chapters will be willing to help with expenses if they have been part in choosing the delegates. At this time, the specific means of travel is not known, and these costs cannot be accurately estimated. It will, however, probably be more than $100, although that is the fact that travel to Cuba is severely restricted, and some sort of legal action could be taken against them.

The rest of the delegation will be made up of those selected by the NHC from regional travelers and staff, people active in movement newspapers or other community projects, national officers, etc. Regional distribution, the individual's relationship to his or her constituency, national perspective, the combination of a fair representation of both women and men, and qualifications for long-range development will be taken into account in selecting the delegation. As we have discussed in many different situations, however, there is no scientific method of dealing with people as human beings, and selection can only follow guidelines rather than be strictly determined by any set of factors. In submitting an application, there should be included a sample of paragraphs giving a history of the applicant's activity in the movement, the chapter to the chapter used in selecting the person, and how he or she fits these criteria.

Due to the state of the Cuban economy and the fact of the war, the members of the NHC, if unable to attend the delegation, should make plans to come as possible. In order to give the MO a list of those to find out who have elected are and what they are like, applications should arrive in the MO no later than November 1.

Let us examine some of them. The first, non-cooperation with the draft in order to dissociate from an imperial system, fails because acceptance of prison negates the original purpose of the act. This happens because the prisons are part of the established institutional system, and as such, are but another instrument for the suppression of dissent. The members of the Resistance who voluntarily accept prison and thereby remove themselves from the sphere of ongoing political work for a protracted period, allow the prisons to perform their repressive function efficiently. While the intent of the Resistance is to deny the authority of the government, they are not dissociated from it so long as it can manipulate them for its own ends. By accepting prison, the Resistance has neither influenced the power of the government, nor undermined its authority. (We have dealt here only with the original and "genuine" Resistance position; i.e., which includes prison—but the same arguments can logically be extended to cover the cases of those who opt for Canada, or choose a similar alternative.) The second reason for non-cooperation is to have the practical effect of denying men to the military. This effect can obviously be achieved by different means—it does not require organization for prison. Further, the longer men stay out of prison while staying out of the military, the longer can they help other men to stay out. And if they choose exile instead of prison, would be made separately for each state by the organizations in that state. With the understanding that amendment would follow the vote, the local organizing perspective won the run-off — by 2 votes out of 27,836 cast. The plenary then amended it in line with the proposals of the California delegation, and everybody went home at about 3 AM.

position, for how is it possible to speak of an alignment of different segments of society, when the white middle-class itself cannot achieve such an alignment within itself—and in fact is split on the very question of the Resistance? This raises the more fundamental question of the establishment of community in the middle class. The Resistance has placed emphasis on building community, and expressing brotherhood. Yet while they affirm community in the abstract, they negate the concept in action. The very fact that the Resistance can develop a tactic which entails going to prison voluntarily is an admission that no community exists among the middle-class, and in going to prison the Resistance precludes the formation of that community. Black activists, to take the easiest counter-example, do not advocate going to prison precisely because they are members of a community to which they are responsible; prison would prevent them from working on the problems of that community, including the war. Indeed, it is a dangerous, and romantic illusion, to suppose that the bonds of community must be formed in prison, as some members of the Resistance have maintained. The creation of community will be accomplished not by working towards prison, towards isolation, but by engaging in a continuing effort to build that community.

sions of the convention. One of the other points read: "(We) condemn the imperialistic Zionist war; this does not imply anti-Semitism." Other points "strongly suggested" that while civilizing committees be established immediately in all white communities to civilize and humanize the savage and beastlike character that runs rampant throughout America; supported "all resolutions issuing from the recent national conference on black power in Newark"; and pledged the convention to "make immediate reparations for the historic, physical, sexual, mental, and economic exploitation of the black people." Further, the black caucus insisted that the convention had no right to amend its resolution.

with the black caucus not participating in the vote.
After the vote, Eric Mann of the New-ark Community Union Project said that he had voted against it because he wanted to treat black radicals just as he would treat white radicals, and if a group of white radicals presented me with a 13-point resolution to be adopted without amendment, I'd tell them to stuff it, right unseen." In general, the vote seemed to cut across liberal-radical lines, with perhaps more radicals voting against it than liberals.

I WANT TO HOLD YOUR HAND

The black caucus decided to interpret the previous 13-point resolution as giving them, as a caucus, one-half of the vote in the plenary session. This was again put before the plenary session, with the black caucus still not participating.

Arthur Wadsworth summed up the views of many who opposed the demand: "There are 1,000 good liberals in this room who think the way to become a good radical is to castrate themselves, but after you castrate someone, you don't sleep with him." The announcement of the vote caused with the whites in the best interests of NCNP and the movement. What things guided down, the black caucus announced approval of the compromise on perspective accepted narrowly the night before. For the future structure of NCNP, the black caucus proposed the creation of two 12-man committees, one to be concerned with helping local organizing, and one with electoral politics and third presidential tickets in those states which wanted them. These two committees would be the NCNP executive board, Julian Bond and by Cassady, this year's NCNP co-chairman, were later added to the new board.

KEEP YOUR HEAD

And when it adjourned, as Clark Ellinger pointed out, it left NCNP as four leaders, an executive board, and a $11,000 deficit. It is hard to say what will come out of the convention, because so much of what the convention did made no sense in relation to current political realities. People should have gone to the convention to work out a framework that would help their organizing work. Too few did. Maybe the lesson is that, for a while,

THE

There is no doubt about it, said about a year ago at every school in the country. However, the government will continue to pay attention to the fact that there is interest in the teachers' work. To see their business if they have had their own way, they will very soon be working with a million dollars in return for the things that are sold in the schools.

There is no doubt that the Government can do much to improve the condition of the people, but it is not the Government alone that is responsible for the state of the country. The people themselves are responsible for their own condition, and it is their duty to improve themselves and their country.

INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Carl Davidson, one of the three National Secretaries of captioned organization, has recently advised that the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) plans a strategy session in Chicago to be held November 10-12, 1967, concerning a nationwide student strike against the universities that are directly or indirectly involved in aiding the Government to pursue the Vietnam war.

A considerable number of demonstrations have been held recently by SDS against Dow Chemical Company, CIA, and military recruiters who have appeared on college campuses throughout the United States. In view of the institutional resistance by SDS in this matter it is desired that the offices receiving this communication, if possible, have informant coverage at this strategy session to insure that the FBI is aware of what future plans SDS is making. All offices follow this matter most closely and make appropriate recommendations to the Bureau regarding coverage of the affair by informants of their office.

[REDACTED] at the SDS National Convention which was held at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan, during the latter part of June, 1967, the Radical Education Center (REC) was set up. Source stated that the REC replaces the Radical Education Project (REP) which is now a separate organization from the SDS.

[REDACTED] b7D
The "NLN," issue of July 10, 1967, contained an article captioned "The Next Day-NC-Internal Education." This article read in part as follows with respect to the purpose of REC:

"The Radical Education Center (REC) will be the internal education arm of the SDS. It will exist for the use of chapters and teacher-organizers and will be responsive to their needs."

The "NLN," Volume 2, Number 33, in the issue of September 25, 1967, contained an article captioned "REC Needs Funds!" This article read in part as follows: "The offices of the newly created Radical Education Center will open their doors for business soon. One of the functions of the education center will be to provide a fully-stocked library for teachers-organizers and for various research projects that will be carried out by the center's staff."

"To date several books have been donated to the library by various people but many more books are needed to complete the library. Several persons have promised to donate the remaining required books. However, the literature section has nothing in it and due to lack of funds and contributors it appears that it will not be stocked unless the membership of SDS contributes the money required to purchase the many magazines, newspapers, etc."

C. New Ideas Publishing Company, Inc.

The "NLN," Volume 2, Number 34, in the issue of October 2, 1967, contained an article captioned "NAC Minutes." This article read in part as follows:

"Corporation. The NAC voted to approve the establishment of a holding corporation (New Ideas Publishing Company, Inc.) to protect the office and printing equipment of SDS and Liberation Press. This does not entail the incorporation of SDS (an act which would require the approval of the entire membership) and deals only with the expensive equipment in the National Office (NO)."

B. Revised SDS National Constitution

[REDACTED] national office of the SDS has not revised its national constitution to include the constitutional amendments which were adopted at the SDS national convention held during the latter part of June, 1967, at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

- [REDACTED] b1

D. Membership

The "NLN," Volume 2, Number 25, in the issue dated June 26, 1967, set forth the National Constitution for the SDS. This constitution read in part as follows:

"Section 1. Membership is open to all who share the commitment of the organization to democracy as a means and as a social goal.

"Section 2. S.D.S. is an organization of and for democrats. It is civil libertarian in its treatment of those with whom it disagrees, but clear in its opposition to any anti-democratic principle as a basis for governmental, social or political organization.

"Section 3. Dues. The amount and period of national dues shall be determined by the National Council.

"Section 4. Associates. Individuals who do not wish to join the S.D.S., but who share the major concerns of the organization, may become associates, with rights and responsibilities as defined by the national council."

The "NLN," supra on page 16, contained an article captioned "Membership Report." This article read in part as follows:

"The recorded membership of SDS stands at 6,371. In addition, there are 588 people who subscribe to "NLN" but are not members. Of the 6,371 members, only 875 have paid dues since 1/1/67. The rest seem to think that the only thing they have to do is pay once and then forget it..."

"Since last August (1966), 38 chapters have applied for and received recognition. This brings the total number to almost two hundred and fifty."

APPENDIX

FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE,
CHICAGO CHAPTER

A source advised in October, 1960, that the Chicago Chapter of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC) was formed during the summer of 1960 at Chicago, Illinois, under the direct guidance and leadership of RICHARD CRILEY, a member of the State Committee, Communist Party (CP) of Illinois.

A second source in August, 1960, furnished a leaflet entitled, "What Is Really Happening in Cuba?" distributed by the FPCC in Chicago. The aims and purposes of the FPCC as set forth in this leaflet include the following: "To disseminate the truth, to combat untruth; to publish and distribute factual information which the United States mass media suppresses. In general, to contribute to foundations for peace, friendship, and understanding between ourselves and the Cuban people." The leaflet reflects the FPCC plans to accomplish these aims: "By mailing of informational bulletins; organizing public meetings and forums; providing speakers, movies, and slides for meetings of interested organizations, placing ads in newspapers; to visit Cuba and see for themselves what conditions really are."

A third source advised on March 9, 1964, that there has been no activity of the FPCC in Chicago since late November, 1963, and for all intents and purposes the organization is defunct.

The mailing address for the FPCC, Chicago Chapter, is Post Office Box 4474, Chicago 80, Illinois.

APPENDIX

FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE

The April 6, 1960, edition of "The New York Times" newspaper contained a full-page advertisement captioned "What Is Really Happening in Cuba," placed by the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC). This advertisement announced the formation of the FPCC in New York City and declared the FPCC intended to promulgate "the truth about revolutionary Cuba" to neutralize the distorted American press.

"The New York Times" edition of January 11, 1961, reported that at a hearing conducted before the United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on January 10, 1961, Dr. CHARLES A. SAVIOS-BUCH identified himself and ROBERT T. TIER as organizers of the FPCC. He also testified he and TIER obtained funds from the Cuban Government which were applied toward the cost of the aforementioned advertisement.

On May 16, 1963, a source advised that during the first two years of the FPCC's existence there was a struggle between Communist Party (CP) and Socialist Workers Party (SWP) elements to exert their power within the FPCC and thereby influence FPCC policy. This source added that during the past year there had been a successful effort by FPCC leadership to minimize the role of these and other organizations in the FPCC so that their influence as of May, 1963, was negligible.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

On May 20, 1963, a second source advised that VINCENT "TED" LEE, FPCC National Office Director, was then formulating FPCC policy and had indicated that he had no intention of permitting FPCC policy to be determined by any other organization. This source stated that LEE believed that the FPCC should advocate resumption of diplomatic relations between Cuba and the United States and should support the right of Cubans to manage their revolution without interference from other nations. LEE did not advocate supporting the Cuban revolution per se.

APPENDIX

The November 23, 1963, edition of "The New York Times" reported that Senator THOMAS J. DODD of Connecticut had called FPCC "the chief public relations instrument of the Castro network in the United States." It is to be noted that Senator DODD was a member of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee which twice conducted hearings on the FPCC.

The December 27, 1963, edition of "The New York World Telegram and Sun" newspaper stated that the pro-CASTRO FPCC was seeking to go out of business and that its prime activity during its lifetime had been sponsorship of pro-CASTRO street rallies and mass picket lines, and the direction of an active propaganda mill highlighting illegal travel-to-Cuba campaigns. Its comparatively brief span of life was attributed to mounting anti-CASTRO American public opinion, the 1962 Congressional hearings which disclosed FPCC financing by CASTRO's United Nations Delegation, and ultimately, the bad publicity which the FPCC received from disclosure of activities on its behalf by suspected presidential assassin LEE H. OSWALD.

On February 6, 1964, the previously mentioned second source advised that V. T. LEE had recently remarked that the FPCC was dead and that there were no plans to organize another similar organization.

On April 13, 1964, a third source advised that there had not been any FPCC activity in many months and that the FPCC had been dissolved.

MAY 2 MOVEMENT

A source advised on March 3, 1965, as follows:

The May 2 Movement (M2M), formerly known as the May 2 Committee, was organized on March 14, 1964, at New Haven, Connecticut, by a group of young people participating in a symposium "Socialism in America" being held at Yale University. The original aim of the M2M was to plan and execute a demonstration in New York City on May 2, 1964, demanding withdrawal of United States troops from Viet Nam.

The M2M was dominated and controlled by the Progressive Labor Party (PLP) and had for its aim and purpose the embarrassment of the United States government by meetings, rallies, picketing demonstrations and formation of university level clubs at which a Marxist-Leninist oriented approach and analysis was taken of United States domestic and foreign policies. This source advised on May 19, 1965, that the headquarters of the M2M was 640 Broadway, New York City, Room 307.

A second source advised on February 9, 1966, that the M2M was officially dissolved as an organization on February 6, 1966, at a meeting held on the same date in New York City by the leadership of M2M and the PLP.

PROGRESSIVE LABOR PARTY

A source advised on April 20, 1965, that the Progressive Labor Party (PLP), formerly known as the Progressive Labor Movement (PLM), held its first national convention April 15-18, 1965, at New York, New York, to organize the PLM into a PLP. The PLP will have as its ultimate objective the establishment of a militant working class movement based on Marxism-Leninism.

The "New York Times" City Edition, Tuesday, April 20, 1965, page 27, reported that a new party of "revolutionary socialism" was formally founded on April 18, 1965, under the name of the PLP. The PLP was described as an outgrowth of the PLM. Its officers were identified as MILTON ROSEN, New York, President, and WILLIAM EPTON of New York and MORT SCHEER of San Francisco Vice Presidents. A 20-member National Committee was elected to direct the party until the next convention.

According to the article, "The Progressive Labor Movement was founded in 1962 by Mr. ROSEN and Mr. SCHEER after they were expelled from the Communist Party of the United States for assertedly following the Chinese Communist line."

The PLP publishes "Progressive Labor," a bi-monthly magazine, "Challenge," a monthly New York City newspaper, and "Spark," a West Coast newspaper.

The April, 1967, issue of "Challenge," page 14, states that, "This paper is dedicated to fight for a new way of life—where the working men and women own and control their homes, factories, the police, courts, and the entire government on every level."

A second source advised on September 26, 1966, that the PLP utilizes the address of General Post Office Box 808, Brooklyn 1, New York, but also utilizes an office in Room 617, 1 Union Square, West, New York City, where PLP publications are prepared.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. GUS HALL, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anticommunist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

W.E.B. DU BOIS CLUBS OF AMERICA (DCA) b1

A second source has advised that the founding convention for the new youth organization was held from June 19-21, 1964, at 150 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California, at which time the name W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA) was adopted. Approximately 500 delegates from throughout the United States attended this convention.

The second source advised in September, 1966, that MIKE ZAGARELL, CPUSA Youth Director, stated that in Negro communities the Party still supported the plan to build "left" socialist centers and to solidify the Party base through the DCA. This source also advised in September, 1966, that DANIEL RUBIN, CPUSA National Organizational Secretary, stated the Party believes the DCA should have a working-class outlook and be a mass organization favorable to socialism, socialist countries and Marxism, and in April, 1967, advised that GUS HALL, CPUSA General Secretary, indicated the DCA primary emphasis should be on developing mass resistance to the draft.

A third source advised in September, 1967, that JARVIS TYNER was elected chairman of the DCA on September 10, 1967, at the Third National Convention of the DCA held in New York, New York, from September 8-10, 1967.

A fourth source advised during August, 1967, that JARVIS TYNER is a member of the National Committee of the CPUSA.

A fifth source advised on September 21, 1967, that the headquarters of the DCA is located at 34 West 17th Street, New York, New York.

W.E.B. DU BOIS CLUBS OF CHICAGO (DCC)

On May 3, 1965, a source advised that on June 30, 1964, a group of young people who attended the founding convention of the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America (DCA) met in Chicago and adopted a statement of purpose and constitution forming the DCC as an affiliate of the national DCA.

A second source advised on May 1, 1967, that DCA chartered clubs in the Chicago area are the West Side DCC and the North Side DCC, neither of which currently maintain a headquarters. There is no central headquarters for the DCC and there are no unchartered clubs in this area.

The second source advised that the majority of DCC members are also members of the CP.

During the past year DCC activity has been almost nonexistent.

YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE CHICAGO

A source advised in late November, 1959, that the Young Socialist Alliance-Chicago (YSA-C), formerly known as Young Socialist Supporters, had its origin in a series of informal discussions held in Chicago prior to June, 1959, among individuals who were close to the Socialist Workers Party (SWP).

The YSA-C as of November, 1959, proclaimed itself to be a city-wide revolutionary youth organization designed to build socialism in America and aimed toward youth on college campuses in the Chicago area and as being independent of all adult groupings.

According to a second source in May, 1967, the YSA-C, also known as the University Young Socialists, was considered the youth group of the Chicago Branch SWP and affiliated with the national organization of the YSA in New York. The YSA-C officers as of May, 1967, were current members or sympathizers of the Chicago SWP.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE-
LOS ANGELES BRANCH

On May 5, 1966, a source advised that in February, 1959, an unnamed organization was formed in Los Angeles by youth members of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) to support the newspaper "Young Socialist" (YS). This organization was formed as a result of the National Conference of Young Socialist Supporters held in Detroit, Michigan, in December, 1958, where a loose national organization was created around the YS with headquarters in New York City.

The organization remained unnamed, although commonly referred to as the Los Angeles Committee of Young Socialist Supporters (LACYSS), until February, 1960, when they adopted the name Young Socialist Alliance (YSA).

A second National Conference of YS Supporters was held April 15-17, 1960, at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, at which the national organization YSA was created. The YSA at Los Angeles is an integral part of the national organization and receives its directives from YSA Headquarters in New York City.

The YSA in Los Angeles is actually the youth organization of the SWP and follows the SWP aims and purposes to the letter.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE

The May, 1960, issue of the "Young Socialist" (YS), page 1, column 3, disclosed that during April 15-17, 1960, a national organization entitled "The Young Socialist Alliance" (YSA) was established at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. This issue stated that this organization was formed by the nationwide supporter clubs of the publication YS.

The above issue, page 6, set forth the Founding Declaration of the YSA. This declaration stated that the YSA recognizes the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) as the only existing political leadership on class struggle principles of revolutionary socialism.

On March 10, 1967, a source advised that the YSA was formed during 1957, by youth of various left socialist tendencies, particularly members and followers of the SWP. The source further advised that the YSA has recently become more open about admitting that it is the youth group of the SWP and that an SWP representative has publicly stated that the YSA is the SWP's youth group.

The headquarters of the YSA are located in Rooms 532-536, 41 Union Square West, New York City.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

A characterization of "Young Socialist" is set out separately.

"YOUNG SOCIALIST"

The "Young Socialist" is a magazine published five times a year by the Young Socialist Alliance. The October, 1964, edition, the initial edition utilizing the magazine format, relates that this magazine succeeds the "Young Socialist" newspaper in an effort to provide "more facts on more general issues than a small newspaper can."

The "Young Socialist" newspaper was formerly described as the official organ of the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA).

The "Young Socialist" maintains office space at the headquarters of the YSA, Rooms 532-536, 41 Union Square, West, New York City, and has a mailing address of Post Office Box 471, Cooper Station, New York, New York 10003.

A characterization of the YSA is set out separately.

APPENDIX

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. GUS HALL, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anticommunist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.
